

Prof. Dr. László Romics Memorial Foundation - Winners of the 2016 tender

31 high quality applications were received almost exclusively from university institutions.

All applications reflected very high standard academic projects, hence the board of trustees faced a challenging task to select the three winners.

We all congratulate to the applicants for their scientific work, and we hope that they consider the Romics Foundation in the future when seeking grant applications to support academic projects.

First price: Dr Eszter Trojnr

Semmelweis University, Budapest
School of PhD studies
3rd Department of Internal Medicine

Title: Determination of anti-HMG-coenzyme A reductase antibody levels
The role of statin treatment in the development of autoimmune necrotizing myopathy

Price: 250.000 HUF (net)

Second price: Dr Hajnalka Lőrincz PhD

University of Debrecen, Department of Internal Medicine

Title: Investigation of the relations of adipokines and lipid parameters in obese patients in Hungary

Price: 150.000 HUF (net)

Third price: Dr Viktória Ferencz PhD

Semmelweis University, Budapest
1st Department of Internal Medicine

Title: Relationship between bone metabolism and carbohydrate metabolism

Price: 100.000 HUF (net)

Dr Laszlo RomicsJr